PORTLAND, OREGON: THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1875.

PRICE—TEN CENTS

EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Massachusetts Democratic Convention.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 22.—The Democratic state convention met to-day, and was called to order by Colonel Aspinwall, chairman of the state central committee, who announced that last year's candidate for attorney general, Hon Edward A. Avery, of Braintree, had been chosen permanent president, and made a speech of some length, in which he declared the Democrats, as a party, to be in favor of hard money. It was so laid down in their last national convention, however individual opinions might differ.

Governor Gaston was renominated unanimously, and General W. F. Bartlett by acclamation for lieutenant governor.

Nominations—Secretary of state, Geo. H. Monroe; treasurer and receiver, Gen. Weston Howland; attorney general, George T. Verry; auditor, J. E. Fitzgerald.

The following platform was adopted: We reiterate the declaration comprehensively made by the national conventions at Cincinnati and Baltimore in 1872, accepting the recent amendments to the federal constitution as a full, final and permanent adjustment of the political controversies incident to the late war. We demand for the Union support in the full vigor of all its constitutional powers, as the supreme authority, utterly repudiating all claims of right by any state to secede from the union or to nullify its laws, and demand for each state, as equally inviolable, the right to govern itself at its sovereign pleasure, subject only to the limitations and obligations of the federal constitution. In the interests of public morals, the nation's credit and the common welfare, we oppose any further issue by the government of currency inconvertible with gold, and we favor a speedy return to specie payments as essential to the revival of the commerce, business and credit of the country, and to the welfare of the laboring masses. We arraign the Republican party for its extravagant expenditure and profligate waste of the people's money; for its contempt of constitutional obligations; for its extortionate increase of sinecures and of salaries of unearnable officers; for its oppressive, unjust and defective system of taxation, finance and currency, which have degraded public and private morality, and brought upon us the present depression in the commercial and industrial interests of the country; for its centralization of power and its encouragement of monopolies and corporate corruption; for its continuance of incompetent and dishonest men in office, and for its general mismanagement of both state and federal governments. We view with alarm the increase in this commonwealth, under Republican administration, of the public debt by prodigal appropriations, for objects not demanded by public interest.

The following were elected delegates at large to the national convention: P. A. Collins, G. W. Gill, J. K. Abbott and Edward Avery, with four alternates.

Maryland Republican Convention.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22.—The Republican State convention reassembled to-day, Archibald Sterling, Jr., chairman.

[illegible], from the committee of conference, submitted a report that they found the organized friends of reform consisted of an organization known as the Citizen's Reform Party, and a committee appointed by the meeting held at Masonic Temple, Baltimore, on the 7th September, known as the Merchant's Committee. After a full, frank and harmonious conference with the committees of said organizations, your committee have agreed on the selection of the following candidates for governor, attorney-general and comptroller, as a union ticket: Governor, J. Morrison Harris; Attorney General, S. Teakle Wallis; Comptroller, Edward Wilkins. The gentlemen named have expressed full sympathy with the movement for reform. The report was adopted and the ticket endorsed. No delegation being present from Cecil, Charles, Necomico or Worcester counties, and the committee on resolutions not being ready to report, recess was called until 2 P. M. The resolutions favor reform, oppose inflation, and favor a return to specie payment.

On reassembling the committee on resolutions reported as follows:

We, the representatives of the Republican party of the state of Maryland, in convention assembled, while adhering to those principles which that party has in the past so triumphantly vindicated before the American people, nevertheless being satisfied that it is the first and most imperative duty of every Republican to co-operate with the patriotic citizens of Maryland who have so nobly ignored party ties and party questions, and are engaged in an earnest effort to restore honest and pure government to our state, do therefore declare and resolve that we are earnestly in favor of honest and economical administration of the government, both state and national; of the fulfillment of every pledge as to the payment of our state and general obligations; of a return to specie payment at the earliest practicable moment, and a cessation of all further expansion of the currency; equal taxation of all property of whatever kind in the state; the appropriation of state money for state purposes only, and improvement and liberal support of the school system; that we deprecate the corruption existing in the administration of the state government of Maryland, and hail with joy the uprising of the people to destroy the rings and cliques that have fastened their fangs on the vitals of the state; and we do hereby pledge ourselves to expose, denounce and punish venality and corruption among public officials whenever and wherever it may be discovered; and to this end we invite the cordial co-operation of all Republicans throughout the state with those who have nominated and secured the acceptance of Morrison Harris for governor of Maryland; S. Teackle Wallis for attorney-general, and Col. Edward Wilkins as comptroller; and we heartily recommend them to our voters as men eminently suitable for their respective positions, being both honest and capable. The resolutions were unanimously adopted and the convention adjourned sine die.

The Liberal Republicans Indorse the Democratic Platform and Ticket.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Liberal state convention met to-day and organized with John Cochrane as chairman. Resolutions were reported and adopted fully indorsing the Democratic platform and ticket.

Platform of the New York Liberals.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Liberal State Convention to-day adopted a platform including the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we consider it self-evident that there can be no sound currency but coin, or paper convertible into coin on demand, and without a speedy return to which national disaster threatens; that the whole system of civil service needs reform; that the military authority should be subordinate to the civil; that a single presidential term is enough; that local self-government is the basis of free government, and that forcible interference with the rights of states is usurpation; that local, civil and political tests, discriminating race and color, are fatal to exact justice to all men; that the original and the amendments to the Federal Constitution are obligatory in their text and spirit, and, in their judicial exposition, subject neither to executive caprices nor to the exigencies of personal government; that a free press is the bulwark of liberty; that municipal rights should be respected, monopolies repressed, and economy in public expenditures observed; that we condemn the national administration for its illegal and oppressive acts, for its retention of corrupt men in office, for its shifting and unstable policy in the administration of the finances, for its inflation of the currency, its fraudulent pretences to the contrary notwithstanding, for its extravagant expenditures and general disregard for intelligent public opinion; that the Liberal Republicans in the state of New York do not think it necessary or useful to nominate a state ticket; they, therefore, recommend to the Liberal and Independent voters of the state to support those candidates already in nomination whose character and experience they most approve, and who in their judgment will earnestly and efficiently co-operate with Governor Tilden in his work of administrative reform.

Vice President Wilson Declines to be Candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The following is published:

NATICK, Sept. 22, 1875.

To Editor Boston Journal: I find in your paper of this morning a dispatch from Worcester stating that Vice President Wilson would accept the Republican nomination for governor, and consider it the greatest compliment ever paid to him. Highly as I should value such an honor, a sense of my obligation and duty to the country would not permit me to accept a nomination were it tendered by the unanimous voice of the convention.

Insurance Convention.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Delegates to convention of insurance commissioners and superintendents continued their session to-day. Commissioner Finch, of Indiana, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That there is necessity for legislation for the protection of holders of life policies.

Mr. Finch was going on to speak in favor of the resolution, but was interrupted by a delegate rising to a point of order, his point being that the resolution was not properly before the body. The commissioner was of opinion that the matter should be referred to the executive committee. The chairman decided that Mr. Finch had the floor, and he proceeded to urge the adoption of his resolution, in an address setting forth the necessity for some movement in this direction. He said that the contract for life insurance was one of the most one-sided known in business. It is framed by the best talent one side can engage, so as to give immunity to the one and hold the other with the utmost strictness. In continuance of contract the convenience, discretion and judgment of one side only is consulted. The constant effort was to restrict the policy holder in every possible way, and leave every possible escape to the company.

The chair appointed as committee on taxes, deposits and fees, Messrs. Foster, Spencer, McGill, Welch and Nye.

Commissioner Rhodes read a draft of an act to regulate the forfeiture of life insurance policies, which was referred to the committee on legislation. Sheppard Holmes, formerly of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of this city addressed the convention on the subject of the time of life insurance. Jas. G. Batterson, President of the Travellers' Insurance Company, of Hartford, spoke of insurance and fraudulent policies, while the Hon. Wm. Barnes, formerly commissioner of this state, urged a better method of collecting census statistics.

The convention adjourned until to-morrow.

A Wife Murderer and Would-be Suicide Recovers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The announcement of the death of Prof. Garland, who attempted wife murder and suicide at New Brunswick, is premature. The physicians who were first summoned after the tragic occurrence, found him in a comatose condition, which was mistaken for death, and their skill was directed to saving Mrs. Garland's life, and it was not until two other physicians arrived that the astonishing discovery was made that Garland still breathed. Pieces of his skull were removed from the brain and the wind pipe sewed up, when he was able to talk and may possibly recover.

Silver Works Burned.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The silver works of the Whiting Manufacturing Co., at Attleboro, were destroyed by fire to-night. Loss estimated at $100,000. F. S. Draper and Co., and Smith & Gilmado, jewelry manufacturers, were also burned out. Their loss is $15,000 each. All the property is well insured. The most of the manufactured goods were in the vault and should this prove to be ruined the loss will be much greater.

Thrown from a Mule and Killed.

LOS BANOS, Sept. 22.—Last evening, about 6 o'clock, an Italian working on Miller's canal farm was killed. He had been pressing hay during the day, and, on quitting work, he jumped on a mule to ride home. The mule threw him, his feet catching in the stirrup, dragging him about a mile. He was fearfully mutilated, nearly every bone in his body being broken, and his skull smashed.

The President's Western Tour.

LONG BRANCH, Sept. 22.—The President and Mrs. Grant left Long Branch this evening for the West.

The "Big Bonanza" Sails for San Francisco.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The new ship Big Bonanza, built for the New York and Pacific trade, sailed to-day for San Francisco.

Brewery Burned.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—The Times' New Albany (Ind.) special says: Peter Bucheste's mammoth frame brewery was burned at 6 A. M. Loss, $10,000.

Money and Stocks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Gold closed 116½@⅝; money 1½@2; governments dull and steady; stocks active and unsettled; Western Union, 75½; Quicksilver, 15½; Pacific Mail 35½; W. F., 78; New York Central, 102¾; Erie, 16½; Panama, 131; Union Pacific 70; U. P. bonds, 103½; C. P. bonds, 104¾.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Wool continues to be in fair demand for spring California, and prices range from 21 to 35 cents as to quality. Pulled wools have been quiet and sales only in small lots.

Another Meeting of Rag Money Lunatics.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 22.—The anti-monopoly mass convention which assembled at Owatonna, was attended by 18 delegates. They adopted extreme inflation resolutions, including the 3-65 per cent. convertible bond scheme, and demanded that the United States debt should be funded in 3-65 per cent. bonds, which should be taxed for local purposes like any other property. They nominated the following ticket: For governor, D. H. Buell; lieutenant-governor, J. B. Tuttle; secretary of state, A. Bierman; state auditor, Patrick Rahilly; treasurer, E. W. Dek; attorney-general, M. McCarthy; railroad commissioner, A. J. Edgerton; chief justice, L. Emmett; clerk of the supreme court, Sherwood Horch.

Fire at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—The Chicago House, St. James hotel, and union depot in this city, burned this morning. Loss about $20,000; insured $15,000. All tickets in the depot representing about $8,000,000—[evidently a mistake—ED.]—were destroyed, and baggage saved. George Findlay, recently from Colorado, a guest at the Chicago House, was burned to death.

Beaten at their Own Game.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—The game of cricket between Philadelphians and British officers was won by the former, who to-day required but five runs to win. At the conclusion of the game the Philadelphians had only three wickets down.

WASHINGTON CITY.

More about Fisher.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—A Washington special says the reign of "Fisherism" in the court of this district, now happily at an end, possesses features too disgraceful almost to be believed. Nearly every day of late has revealed scandalous proceedings of the past. The stealing of the papers, etc., from the police court has been traced to young Fisher, former assistant district attorney, and to-day he was committed to jail in default of $4,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury. It appears that the young man had purloined the papers for the purpose of private speculation. The police investigation now under way here also indicates that this same young Fisher stood in for shares in the swag of the burglars who robbed Perry & Smith here of so many valuable silks. His release of Snyder, through securing a false presentation of bail, has been fully developed in this investigation. The career of Fisher is now ended for the time being, and under the reform begun by the attorney general, there is a reasonable prospect of his being punished for his many crimes.

The Attorney-General Sustained by Gov. Kellogg and other Leading Southerners.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The attorney-general has received several telegrams from Mississippi from persons of both political parties, commending his recent letter to Gov. Ames, which is described as having a very salutary effect. The telegrams also mention that perfect quiet remains in the lately reported disorderly portion of the state.

Gov. Kellogg, of Louisiana, called upon the attorney general to-day, and had a long conversation respecting affairs in the south, especially regarding Mississippi and Louisiana. Gov. Kellogg expressed to the attorney-general his entire approval of the course of the latter in the Mississippi business, and coincides in the views of others that the letter to Gov. Ames must exercise a good effect, not only in Mississippi but in Louisiana and other parts of the south. The governor also stated that political matters in Louisiana were now remarkably quiet, and there were no indications of a renewal of such disturbances as some time ago characterized the condition of affairs in that state.

Return of Dr. Linderman.

Dr. Linderman, director of mints, has returned from his visit to the Pacific coast, and expresses himself satisfied with the operations of the several mints, including that at San Francisco.

Money Matters.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—While the internal revenue receipts this month are satisfactory to the treasury department, those from customs are less than those for the corresponding month last year.

There now remain only $28,000,000 new five per cent bonds for negotiation. No further call for redemption of old bonds will be made until demanded by subscriptions to the new.

Boston Postmaster.

Postmaster Burt, of Boston, will be retained in office should his bond, as promised, be filed to-day.

Army Allowances.

A general order has just been issued by the war department which restores from the 1st inst. the allowances of fuel and forage prescribed by orders and regulations in force previous to the order of March 13th, 1875.

Resignations.

Assistant attorney Walter H. Smith, heretofore on duty at the interior department, and E. A. Reddington, chief clerk in the same office, have resigned, to take effect Oct. 1st.

All Right.

The commission appointed to investigate the charge of fraud preferred by the Indians against Agent Gibson, of the Osage agency, reported to the effect they found some irregularities, such as an imperfect system of keeping accounts, but no evidence was adduced showing corruption and fraud. Neither the government nor the Indians have sustained any loss.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Spanish Politics.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—A ministerial circular to prefects urges the support of monarchists of all shades in the coming election.

Spain and the Vatican.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—The Correspondencia of this city says that Cardinal Simoni, papal nuncio, addressed a note to the late government demanding the execution of the concordat between Spain and the Vatican, the payment of arrears due to the clergy, and that nominations to the still vacant bishoprics be made as soon as possible. Don Alejandro Castro, the then minister of foreign affairs, and Don Pedro Sala Verria, minister of finance, replied. The reply was couched in conciliatory but firm language. The ministers endeavored to convince the nuncio that the circumstances of the case no longer permitted him to put forward his demand.

The Spanish envoy at the Vatican is instructed that the government at Madrid will be firm but moderate. It will respect religion, but at the same time will protect the rights of the state. It is believed here that the Vatican will finally abate its pretensions.

Spanish War News.

HENDAYE, Sept. 22.—The Northern army has cut off all communication between the Carlists in Navarre and Aragon, who are compelled to cross the frontier. General Dorregaray has concentrated his forces around Estella.

MADRID, Sept. 22.—The police have discovered several secret repositories of arms and ammunition, which are supposed to be intended for a socialist rising.

London Stock Market.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Pall Mall Gazette this evening, says: Supplies of money are large; paper continues scarce. There is no change of discount. Market firm.

Von Arnim's Case.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A special from Berlin states that the case of Count Von Arnim has been fixed in the higher court for the 17th of October. It is expected the "Kammergericht" sentence will be confirmed. The count, who is seriously indisposed, is still in Switzerland.

Crops of Australia.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—A South Australian telegram of the 20th, states the harvest prospects are unprecedented. The wool clip is good.

Bank of England.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day £119,000; rate for money at stock exchange on government securities 1½ per cent.

Spoke Hopefully.

VIENNA, Sept. 22.—The Emperor of Austria, on receiving the parliamentary delegations to-day spoke hopefully as to the maintenance of peace in Europe.

Troops for Cuba.

SANTANDER, Sept. 22.—The embarkation of troops for Cuba is actively going on. Up to the present 4,000 have sailed for that island.

Going After the Schools.

A pastoral of the bishops assembled at Maynooth recently intimates that it is the intention to establish a Catholic training school for masters under the care of the Vincentian fathers. They say the primary educational system is more than ever distrusted by them, and declare that the control of the state over the education of the country has been enlarged to an extent perilous to liberty. They say that in a few years the band of professors and masters now being formed by the Catholic university will have the intermediate education of the country in their own hands, and it will become impossible for the state to withhold legal recognition from the educators of the nation.

The Centenary.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The principal manufacturers of this city will hold a meeting Friday in favor of the Philadelphia exhibition.

Orleanists Hang On.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—The Journal de Paris, on authority, gives positive denial to the assertions made by the Journal La France on the 13th, to the effect that the Orleans princes were about to renounce all claims to the throne, and declare for the republic.

A New "Group."

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Paris correspondent of the Times reports that upon the meeting of the assembly a new parliamentary group will be formed, composed of radicals who follow M. M. Naquet and Louis Blanc. This defection from the left may possibly somewhat delay the dissolution of the assembly.

Gold for America.

Gold, to the amount of £40,000, was withdrawn from the bank yesterday for America.

Reinforcements for the Insurgents.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Ragusa advices from Sclavonic sources, state that the insurgents, under a priest, Larko, had been joined by fresh bands of Servians. The insurgents are said to have burned everything between Nova, Warsch and Vishegrad.

The Turkish Troubles.

BELGRADE, Sept. 22.—A telegram to the National Zeitung at Berlin confirms the reports of insurgent victories. Trebigne is again surrounded. A special from Vienna says the report of the failure of the consular commission is premature. Negotiations with the insurgents were only to begin on Monday last. Meanwhile the Tagblatte of Vienna says that if the commission should not succeed the insurgents will be called to a general meeting somewhere in Austria. If the proposed meeting should fail, the Porte would of course follow his own method of dealing with the rebellion, but even in that case the Porte would pledge support to bring about the reform which the consular reports indicated as necessary. Those well acquainted with the intentions of the Porte say that not only the ministry but the Sultan himself is fully convinced that the old state of things in Bosnia and Herzegovina cannot be restored and must be thoroughly changed.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—A special dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Vienna states that Servia and Montenegro have notified the powers of their determination to remain neutral in the troubles between Turkey and the northwest provinces.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

Fraud on the Government Discovered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—An extensive swindle on the government and importers of coal has been discovered. Wm. Lund & Co., wholesale coal dealers, No. 113 and 115 Market street, are heavy purchasers from importers. Every ship's cargo unloaded here from Newcastle or Sydney, for many months, has fallen 40 to 60 tons short of the invoice, and the matter has finally been traced to Lund & Co., who receive coal direct from the ship, and by a fraudulent arrangement of scales in front of their warehouse, where loaded carts are weighed, have been enabled to perpetrate extensive frauds. Lund & Co. charge the swindle to their clerk, Fitzgerald, who on discovery of the trick this morning left the establishment, and has not yet been seen.

Greenbacks unchanged.

ARIZONA.

Immigration into Arizona.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—A private letter from Prescott, Arizona, reports a large immigration into the territory and consequently a surplus of laboring men, and wages have declined.

Mining Discoveries.

Some very rich gold and silver leads have been recently discovered near Prescott. News from the south report many similar discoveries.

Land Titles in Arizona.

Land matters promise to be a great trouble to settlers. Certain parties have examined the Mexican grants, and it is believed they have discovered quite a number of old grants amongst persons who have never been in Arizona, certainly not for twenty years. These grants will be brought to light just as soon as the land becomes valuable, and it is expected that the courts can be induced to recognize them, as testimony of any sort can be obtained at Tucson.

A NEW SIGN OF A HARD WINTER.—"Next winter's gwine to be a mighty hard one, ef you b'lieve me," said a steamboat rooster on the elevator yesterday.

"Why so?" a Herald reporter asked.

"Look at de mus-keeters."

"Well?"

"Y'ever see 'em so thick?"

"They are rather numerous."

"And they don't sting a bit."

"Maybe they're out of music; besides you know the acoustics of this building are bad."

"Cowsticks?"

"No, acoustiques; sound, you understand. Throats of the little warblers out of order; ceiling of the building phonocamptic. Their little songs melt away in the distance, as it were; the sound is refracted, and ——"

"Well, I don't know nuthin' 'bout dat, boss, but I tell you's gwine to be a hard winter. When you see so many skeeters not singing a bit, but jest gettin' down right square to business, you may know dey's layin' in a supply of pervishuns for a hard winter. Dat's my sign."—Vicksburg Herald.

A DETROIT FINANCIAL ARGUMENT.—"Well, bub," replied Bijah as he finished hanging up his broom, "this currency question bothers many besides you, though it's clear enough to me. You see that twenty-five cent scrip, don't you?"

The boy remarked that he did, and Bijah placed it on the window-sill, weighed it down with a peach-stone, and continued:

"That bit of paper is marked '25 cents,' but is it twenty-five cents? Is it anything more than a piece of paper?"

"I dunno," solemnly replied the boy.

"Has that bit of paper any real value beyond it being a promise to pay?" demanded Bijah.

"What paper?"

"That 'ere twenty-five ——"

He stopped there. Some one had sneaked up the alley and slyly stolen both scrip and peach-stone.

"Never mind," condoled the boy, "it hadn't any intrinsic value."

"It hadn't, eh?" growled the old janitor; "I just want to catch the wolf who absorbed it!"—Detroit Free Press.

Does the Court understand you to say that you saw the editor intoxicated? "Not at all, sir, only I've seen him in such a—a—a—flurry as to attempt to cut out copy with the snuffers; that's all."

THE CODE OF HONOR.

THE LAST IN MISSOURI.

The farce recently enacted by a couple of St. Louis editors who tried to make the world believe they wanted to fight a duel, was the occasion for the St. Louis correspondent of the Chicago Times to recall the last real duel fought in that state, and he relates the circumstances as follows:

In 1856, Thomas C. Reynolds, who is now recognized as one of the leading lawyers of the state, and who was at the last election a prominent candidate for the United States senatorship, led the Democratic party of St. Louis. The country was then just entering well upon the fierce partisan era in American politics. The Kansas question loomed up sharp and well defined, while beyond these were dim hints of the "impending crisis," and an irrepressible conflict. In Missouri the political warfare was exceedingly bitter. It was Benton and anti-Benton, with the whig platform as a side issue. Reynolds, as the leader of the anti-Benton party, had been forced by his party to accept the nomination for congress and make the race against Frank P. Blair, the Benton candidate in the St. Louis district. This was done, not because there was a ghost of a chance for Reynolds, but because it was believed he could bring up the rest of the ticket, and through his personal popularity perhaps secure it. The supposition was well based. Reynolds raised the Democratic vote in the St. Louis district from 600, as it had been in 1854, to 2,500 in 1856, and secured the election of the anti-Benton state ticket, which was headed by Trusten Polk, while Old Bullion himself was his party's candidate for governor.

The fight was all in the St. Louis district. Luther M. Kennett, who was the whig candidate for congress, kept out of the way, and Blair and Reynolds, from the nominations in May to the election on the first Monday in August, kept up the canvass in city and county. McKee and Fishback were then running the Democrat as the free-soil organ, and B. Gratz Brown was the editor. Blair held an interest in the paper, and naturally it espoused his cause. As the canvass progressed toward the end Brown wrote an editorial, mercilessly caustic and personal, reflecting upon Reynolds. The latter replied in a brief but pointed card. Brown promptly challenged and Reynolds as promptly accepted. In those days the code was in favor. Men as near the Mason and Dixon line as this went out to shoot for ideas, and a leaden argument went a long way in a political fight.

Brown chose as one of his seconds Leo Walker, a high-spirited South Carolinian, who had married into a wealthy family here, and was then a resident of St. Louis. His other friend was Col. David D. Mitchell, once superintendent of Indian affairs, and well known as an Indian and plain fighter. But besides these there clustered about Brown, as the party's champion, Thomas H. Benton, Frank P. Blair, and all their powerful coterie.

Reynolds' seconds were Col. Ferdi Kennett, the best pistol-shot in Missouri, who lived in lordly style at Selma hall, and Capt. Thomas B. Hudson, a Democratic politician who figured famously in the Doniphan expedition to Mexico. As advisors and counselors Reynolds had such men as Col. David H. Armstrong, now invariably referred to as "the old war-horse of the party" in Missouri; Col. Wm. A. Linn, who was then collector of customs for St. Louis; Gen. Isaac H. Sturgeon, one of the faithful of the present national administration.

John Howe was then mayor, and Judge Henry A. Clover the prosecuting attorney. The expected meeting was hinted at, but there was no interference, and the arrangements were all perfected. Forty miles below St. Louis, on high river bluffs, is Selma hall, built of stone, and much after the style of the German baronial castles which look down on the Rhine. It is one of the favorite landmarks, and is always pointed out and commented on by the loitering passengers on passing steamers. It was a famous place before the war, and a Southerner in Southern style once wrote of it: "Here nature and art had combined to make the spot one of the loveliest in the west. Flowers and fountains abounded everywhere. In the August noon huge forest trees made a grateful shade, under which deer rested at ease, cropping the rich grass at intervals and crouching low at intervals, as the memory of the old, wild days of horn and huntsman came up from the lowlands and the river. There were steeds ever in stall for the young bloods who swore by Kennett and his hounds; books for the pale student who stole away from medicine and law to sleep one night with the hills and the clover; costly wines for whosoever would drink, and an open door and a ready latch-string for every wayfarer benighted through chance or inclination."

The once powerful Kennetts are scattered now. Some are dead, others are living abroad, and the family is scarcely known save in the history of Missouri. The castle seems almost out of place now, for enterprising men from the east have discovered almost under the windows of Selma inexhaustible beds of white sand, and day and night the puffing of engines is heard keeping company with the glare of the glass furnaces. But the picture given above was a faithful one when, on the 23d of August, the parties left St. Louis for this the rendezvous for the duel. Reynolds passed the night before leaving St. Louis at the residence of Isaac H. Sturgeon, and he slept so late and so soundly that he had to be called in the morning. With his surgeon, Dr. J. H. Shore, and his friends Kennett and Hudson, Reynolds went over the river and journeyed leisurely down the Illinois side.

There was no haste; everything was done calmly and deliberately. Reynolds remained on the Illinois side until Monday evening, the 25th of August, and then crossed over to Selma and became the guest for the night of G. W. Chadbourne, now the president of the St. Louis Shot-tower company, but who had a country seat at that time just above Bennett's place. Brown and his friends had been made the guests of Kennett, Reynolds' seconds, as courtesy was construed to require. Kennett believed in the code, and was as full of romance as a school girl. He had looked after all the minutest details. On the morning of Tuesday, the 26th of August, the men were to meet, and the place of meeting was a sand-bar midway between Illinois and Missouri. Before daybreak the parties started for the bar in cushioned skiffs propelled by negro rowers.

The time was just before sunrise, and as Kennett looked up and down the river over in the magnificent view of bluff and wood and water, taking in the scene with his ardent, sensuous nature, he turned to Mitchell, the bluff old Indian fighter fighter, and said abruptly, after a sweeping glance of the country:

"It is beautiful. Would you like to be shot to-day?"

"As well one day as another. Why?" was the curt answer.

"It looks like tempting Providence such a day as this," said Kennett, with another glance at the gorgeous scene.

"It may be, but Providence is with him who shoots first and pulls the steadiest trigger," and then there was silence until the boats grated on the sand-bar. The principals stepped out jauntily, and stood aside while the ground was selected, and measured. Reynolds was 35, of medium height, and squarely built, without extra flesh. He has grown stout and grizzled since then. He was a South Carolinian and wore the favorite light gray of the south. Brown was only 30, a native of Kentucky, sandy haired, and of strong, nervous temperament. He wore on this morning a full suit of black, buttoned to the chin.

They were to fight with the regulation dueling pistols, those long-barreled, ominous looking weapons, with the single word "London" sunk in the iron,—weapons but seldom seen now. The stocks were of mahogany, not polished and rounded and liable to slip in a perspiring hand, but shaped as square as a saw-handle. They carried ounce balls, had hair triggers and double sights, and in trained hands meant death four times out of five. The men were to fight face to face twelve paces apart. The drop shot had been chosen. The pistols were to be held muzzle upward until the word was given, and then lowered and fired.

The distance was measured, and Kennett flung up the silver half dollar, and won the choice of position. He tossed again, and won the word. He was to call out "Fire—one—two—three—stop." The principals were not to lower their pistols before the word "fire," and not to shoot after the word "stop." The pistols were loaded, and the men took their places, Brown with the half sarcastic smile which he always wore. The surgeons noiselessly opened their cases and each looked at his man. Kennett called out:

"Gentlemen, are you ready?"

"Ready," was the reply in the same breath.

Then from Kennett came the deliberate "Fire—one—"

At the first monosyllable Reynolds had lowered his weapon and, while the second word was on Kennett's lips, fired, Brown following the movement so close that the two sounds were hardly distinguishable.

Reynolds stood like a statue, the smoke curling up from his pistol's mouth. Brown staggered, shifted from one leg to the other, while the lines of his face straightened. Hudson stepped up to Reynolds and said:

"Brown is wounded in the groin."

"You are mistaken," was Reynolds reply. "I aimed at his knee."

So it was; the heavy ball had split the bone of the right leg just below the knee, and a pool of blood was widening out about Brown's feet. Nevertheless the Kentuckian stood his ground with compressed lips, and demanded another fire. The surgeons examined the wound and forebade it. There was a brief consultation between the seconds, and Reynolds walked over to Brown, who had been forced to the ground by the pain, and offered his hand. It was taken, explanations followed, and all was smoothed away just as the steamer Editor—appropriate name—came puffing up the river. The hail was answered, and the whole party taken on board. Brown was carried in a blanket, and it was months before he left off his crutches. Even to-day a perceptible limp tells of the severity of the wound.

Kennett says that Brown's bullet glanced by Reynold's breast, and had not the latter fired so rapidly as he did—affecting his antagonist's aim, he must have received the ball squarely in the chest. Both were splendid shots. Just before his departure for Selma, Reynolds went down to the Marine hospital, and, with Col. William A. Linn, indulged in a little pistol practice. He said to Linn that he intended to hit Brown in the knee, and gave all his attention to low aim. Linn remonstrated with him and told him Brown was a superior marksman.

"Your life," he added, "may depend on a fatal wound."

Reynolds replied: "I am sure of my quickness in firing, and were it otherwise I would never consent to take any man's life for a mere political quarrel. If I can disturb Brown's aim by shooting him first it will be all I desire."

The two men have been firm friends ever since this meeting. The war separated them. Reynolds, as lieutenant-governor, went into the confederacy, and finally, when the state had gone under the control of the federals, became a diplomat at Richmond. Then he went to Mexico with Shelby's expedition, to return when Maximillian's fortunes went down and settle to law practice in St. Louis. Brown remained with the winning side, and was by turns legislator, colonel, senator, governor, and finally the sharer with Greeley of the ill-fated liberal movement.

THE TERRITORIES.

The revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott arrived at Olympia on Tuesday.

At last accounts the grasshoppers were licking up the unharvested wheat crop in southern Montana.

The Port Madison sawmill was shut down last Saturday for cleaning-up and repairs. These will probably take two weeks' time.

Mr. O. W. Weaver, of Seattle, died on Saturday night, 18th inst., at the insane asylum, in Pierce county, from softening of the brain.

A gold prospecting party left Whatcom a few days since for the headwaters of the Nootsack river in search of the precious metal.

John Metz, a Salt Lake saloon keeper, started to heaven Sunday, by the laudanum route, but was brought back when half way over, by a stomach pump.

During the last quarter the Washington territorial treasurer paid out on warrants over $10,000, and $31,048 were in the treasury on the 1st of September.

A deaf mute was assassinated a few evenings since in a saloon at Silver City, N. M., by a Mexican who sneaked up cat-like from behind, and plunged a long blade into his back.

A terrific hail storm passed over La Cueva, N. M., last Monday week, killing a large number of cattle and sheep, and destroying 6,000 fanegas of grain belonging to Vicente Romero.

Fort Russell, near Cheyenne, was illuminated, Thursday, with another big blaze, the second or third one this year. Two hundred bales of bales of hay were licked up in short order.

Schwabbousen and Jones, in the Port Townsend block-house awaiting trial, dug through the floor last Saturday night, and made good their escape. Though much effort has been made, they have not yet been recaptured.

The Tribune says: It is rumored, just rumored, you know, that the Salvador is to bring passengers to the Sound this trip for nothing, and that the Pacific, not to be outdone, will not only bring passengers for nothing, but will present each of them with a fine chromo.

If dust was worth $1 a pound, says an ill-natured Montana paper, every man, woman and child in Virginia City would have a bonanza in their ears, a placer in their nostrils, and a big strike in the corners of their eyes, to say nothing of the wealth they would carry around on the back of their necks.

Another three-masted schooner named the Young America, has been launched at Port Ludlow. She is the same length and breadth as the Utter, but six inches deeper. Another keel will be laid at once, 105 feet long, the vessel to be built upon it, and another now building of the same dimensions to be finished in ten weeks. The four schooners are about equal in capacity and cost to a clipper ship of ten or twelve hundred tons.

In driving cattle, on Saturday evening last, Mr. W. I. Wadleigh, formerly of Portland met with a painful and dangerous accident at Seattle. His horse lost his footing and fell, rolling over on his rider; Mr. Wadleigh's head striking upon some hard substance and laying open his temple. A carriage was sent to him and he was conveyed to his home in Seattle. He suffered some severe bruising and concussion of the brain, rendering him insensible for fourteen hours after the accident.

A man named Chas. Kaderldy, who came from San Francisco to Seattle on the last trip of the Pacific, met with a terrible accident in McCallister's mill, on White river, last Monday evening. Some one, in shoving a board, struck him on the chest, causing him to lose his balance and fall backward. A belt caught him and carried him around a wheel, he striking various objects in the revolution, bruising him internally and externally, and breaking his right arm above the elbow and his right leg near the ankle.

The picking of hops in the Puyallup valley is about done for this season; the old vines being already stripped, and the new ones being commenced upon yesterday morning. The new vines have averaged a little short of a thousand pounds to the acre; the old vines about twice that, while the average production of old and new throughout the valley has been about 1,510 pound to the acre. The crops is of the best quality; the worms nor anything else injuring them. The farmers are downcast at present at the low prices ruling the market, which are lower than at any time since the introduction of the hop to the valley, but on account of opposition, their freights will probably be much less than usual.

OREGON.

A new semi-monthly paper is to be issued in Salem. The name will be The Salem Collegian, and it will be devoted to the interests of the Willamette University.

A cow, crazed by the application of turpentine to her head, ran off the river bank at Salem where it was twenty-four feet perpendicularly, and was instantly killed.

The Salem Woolen Mills met with an accident on Tuesday last which shut down business for two days. It is a break of what they call the "bevel gear wheel," and requires some time for repairs.

We learn from a correspondent at Eugene that the contract for the completion of the State University at that place has been awarded to Messrs. Douglas & Van Alstine, and the work will be pushed rapidly forward to its completion.

There is a great falling off in the supply of potatoes in Western Oregon. The crop is nearly a failure all along the coast south of Astoria. The yield in Marion county is much less than half a crop, and the same holds good in Linn from the fact that potatoes are worth $1 per bushel in Albany. In Salem the price at present is 75 cents per bushel, but the price will soon be higher.

The commissioners' court has ordered that the following rates of taxation shall be levied upon the taxable property of Marion county for the present year: State tax, 6 mills; military, 1½ mills; school, 3 mills; county, 10½ mills. The value of taxable property in the county is $4,313,190, and the taxes to be levied on that amount will foot up as follows: State tax, $21,565 92; military tax, $5,409 76; school tax, $12,939 57; county tax, $45,288 50; one dollar per capita on 1854 polls, $1,854. Total tax, $88,117 80.

The following is a correct report of the population and products of Marion county for the year 1875, as compiled by K. L. Hibbard, county assessor: Legal voters, 3,040; 21 years and upwards, 3,291; under 21 and over 10 years, 1,547; under 10 years, 1,914; 18 years and upwards, 2,491; under 18 and over 10 years, 1,249; under 10 years, 1,830; acres of land under cultivation, 77,707; number of bushels of wheat raised, 865,731; oats, 242,104; barley, 6,582; rye, 3,904; tons of hay, 9,262; pounds wool, 145,297; bushels flax seed, 4,200; bushels of corn, 2,609; number of sheep, 30,640; hogs, 8,221; horses, 4,895; cattle, 11,363; mules, 177; pounds of tobacco, 1,288; bushels of potatoes, 65,913; bushels of apples, 173,470; feet of lumber, 5,650,000; pounds of cheese, 70,518; pounds of butter, 167,260.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Four cars for the Canadian Pacific railway were landed at Victoria by the steamer Panama, last week.

James Morrison, Esq., New Westminster, and Benjamin Pitt Griffin, Esq., Victoria, are gazetted official assignees under the Dominion bankrupt act.

Two Chinamen were killed—one instantly, the other after a few hours—a couple of weeks ago by falling down the shaft of the Victoria mining claim, Lightning creek.

A dispatch from Quesnelmouth, dated Sept. 11th, says: "Mr. Lewis arrived yesterday noon with the Omineca express, mails, etc. He reports the claims laid over on account of the scarcity of water. No sickness. David Gardiner and Vitelle had arrived at Omineca, 57 days from Cassiar. They are surveying for a cattle trail from the forks of Skeena to Cassiar.

The steamer Hope, which, during the early part of the season, ran on the Stikine river, was sold a few weeks ago to a colored man for $500, who purposed turning her into a floating hotel. He moored her opposite Wrangel and proceeded to fit her up, but when about half finished she began to fall to pieces, and the project was abandoned. Subsequently her machinery was disposed of to Mr. McKay, (H. B. Co.) for sawmill purposes, at a great sacrifice, however, to her former purchaser.

A letter from Woodcock's landing, on the Skeena river, to the Colonist says: One of the most important strikes of gold ever made in British Columbia has been lately discovered at a place called at Kallauken, about 160 miles northeast of the forks of the Skeena. Mr. Hankin writes to Mr. Feake and states that he prospected a creek there and obtained $1 17 to two fry pans of dirt. Having no tools, as a matter of course he was unable to prospect to any great advantage; but he gives his opinion that it is a rich country. There is no doubt if it be as reported, that there will be a large influx of miners the present season.

STATE TEMPERANCE UNION.

SALEM, Sept. 21, 1875.

The Oregon State Temperance Union met at Reed's Opera House, at 2 o'clock P. M., and was called to order by the President, W. R. Steward.

C. H. Walker was elected secretary pro tem.

The president then appointed the following committee on credentials: E. W. Ryan, L. W. Spencer and Mrs. Wm. England.

The Union then took a recess of half an hour, after which the committee on credentials made a partial report which was, on motion, adopted.

The report shows a representation from 28 organizations, temperance societies, churches, Sunday schools, etc.

The president then announced the following standing committees:

Resolutions—W. H. Vandewert, T. H. Cann, Mrs. Nickerson.

Order of Business—E. Turner, J. B. McClane, Mrs. G. P. Holman.

Music and Public Exercises—Dr. C. H. Hall, Mrs. Wm. England, J. M. Patterson.

Political Action—Thos. Pearce, D. H. Allen, Mrs. Parrish.

Ways and Means—C. H. Walker, Miss M. J. Hurley, J. W. Spencer.

It was voted to excuse Major Magone from the call made on him for a speech, and that to-morrow at a quarter past 11 o'clock, be fixed as the time when he shall address us.

Adjourned till 7 o'clock this evening.

Evening Session.

Called to order by the president, W. R. Stewart. Opened with song entitled "Our Work Song," and prayer by Rev. Dr. L. L. Rowland.

Committee on order of business made a report, which, on motion, was adopted.

It was unanimously voted to suspend that part of the constitution requiring credentials to entitle persons to seats as delegates, and admit Col. C. A. Reed, Chas. H. Whitney and also Mrs. Robinson to a seat as delegate from Portland Encampment, I. C. R. C.

The committee on credentials made an additional report, which was adopted.

The following was then read and adopted:

Resolved, That all speakers except those invited by the committee on order of business, be limited to five minutes and two speeches each.

J. F. Johnson was elected vice president pro tem.

It was voted that the president appoint a sergeant-at-arms for the session, and Mr. B. H. Allen was appointed as such.

Adjourned till Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

SHE CURED HIM.—At last she completely cured him. For months she had patiently endured the pangs so many thousands of young wives are compelled to suffer. Almost every morning at breakfast the heartless husband expressed the hope that he might live to see the day when he should get such coffee as he used to have at home. Or such corn-bread as his mother was wont to make and bake. At dinner the meat was overbaked in the range. To be sure his mother used to roast the meat in an old-fashioned Dutch tin oven, and the piece was always done to a turn—the last turn of the revolving spit. Those days were forever gone, but he might and ought to get such a green-apple pie with new cheese as his mother used to give him. At length the long-suffering wife arose in her wrath, upset the table, sending the dishes and their contents crashing to the carpet, strided over to the astonished husband, gave him a box on the ear which knocked him off his chair, and remarked: "There's a clip over the head for you, such as your mother used to give you when you was a boy, golderu yer." Thereafter there was domestic peace and quiet in that house, with never even an allusion to the maternal cookery and comforts of the by-gone days.—N. Y. World.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. DIMICK.

EUGENE CITY, Sept. 21, 1874.

To George W. Dimick, Esq., Temperance Candidate for Congress—MY DEAR SIR: I have bestowed considerable thought upon the subject, as to what is the best course for me to pursue in the approaching election, and have arrived at the following conclusions: As a temperance man, if I could see the least hope of your election I should vote for you as the temperance candidate; but being satisfied, in my own mind, that you stand no show whatever, I do not see the propriety of throwing away my vote simply to show my zeal for temperance. I believe that if all true temperance men in Oregon should vote for Warren, that he would be elected; but if those votes are cast for you, Mr. Warren will be defeated and Mr. Lane elected.

Every vote that is cast for you reduces Warren's chances of election and increases Lane's. In the final result it matters little whether Elder Whitney runs or not, because he will take a few votes from Warren and a few from Lane, and will not materially affect the final result. But your case is different in this respect; you will take a few votes from Mr. Warren and none from Mr. Lane. Don't you know that you will not get a dozen Democratic votes in the whole state? The few Republican votes that you will take from Mr. Warren cannot possibly do you or the temperance cause any good, but, if given to Mr. Warren, might possibly secure his election. Taking this view of the subject, I have decided to cast my vote for Mr. Warren as the best temperance man who stands any show of being elected. I am not alone in this particular; there are many other temperance men of the same mind. The temperance cause would evidently be better subserved by its friends voting for Mr. Warren, and thereby secure his election than by voting for you and thereby electing Mr. Lane.

Looking at the subject in this light, I ask you, and all true friends of temperance, would it not be better for you to withdraw from the contest and thus give temperance men a chance to vote for Mr. Warren without being obliged to vote against a temperance candidate? Mr. Warren's answer to Enoch Turner relative to the temperance question ought to be satisfactory to any temperance man. That he is a true friend of the cause, I have not the least doubt. The temperance cause will certainly gain nothing by your defeat. The very smallness of the vote that will be cast for the temperance candidate will have a terribly discouraging effect on its true friends, and such a defeat will be very demoralizing to the temperance forces.

In conclusion, I assure you it is no want of interest in the success of the cause of temperance that has induced me to take this ground. I claim to be as true a friend of temperance as any man in Oregon, according to my ability. I cheerfully accord as much to you. We may possibly not see the whole thing in the same light, therefore may, with equal honesty, act differently. As freemen this is our privilege. My summing up is as follows:

1. If you run you will divide Warren's vote and elect Lane.

2. If you withdraw you may secure the election of Warren, a true temperance man, and defeat Lane, a dram-drinker.

3. If you run the race through, you will be terribly defeated, and the temperance forces demoralized for years to come.

As a consistent temperance man I shall vote for Henry Warren, who stands some show of being elected, instead of throwing away my vote, merely to exhibit my zeal for temperance.

Yours, fraternally,
E. P. HENDERSON.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION.

PORTLAND, Sept. 22, 1875.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

For some time past the common school system has been the subject of discussion, and now is dragged into the arena of politics. Now, though I am no politician, and have some fault to find with our school system, having had long experience in the working of the denominational system, I can plainly see that education is rather hindered than advanced by that plan. Supposing six main Christian denominations, it is plain that five of them could or should join in one, and fear nothing from sectarianism in school matters. But the evil that there worked, and is ever known to work, is now working in the United States; and should it gain its point, it will not rest there, but, as usual, where it gets an inch it will take an ell. And what is this party working for? Not for education; for history, as well as experience, shows that it loves darkness rather than light. Now if this party is so tender of its young members, lest they should be contaminated by associating with other denominations in our public schools (of which there is no fear) let them withdraw and establish a school to their own fancy, but still, as good citizens pay all legal taxes, as many of us do with respect of school tax without any personal benefit. Being persuaded that many who may vote for the desired change in the system do not see the trap laid for them, I would humbly say to them, "Ask counsel." It is well known that when the light of a candle is about taking its flight it emits a glaring light and then dies. Such is the present move.

FAIR PLAY.

This from the Philadelphia Times is warranted suitable for any climate:

For a sound comprehensive, universal platform, commend us to the Democracy of Blair county. Their convention met a few days ago and summed up the political necessities of the country in a single resolution, as follows: "That we hereby reaffirm the immutable principles upon which the fathers of the republic carried the party to success." There's a platform for you, and all the carpings of cynics and soreheads must but gnaw a file of triple steel in assailing it. True, nobody knows just what particular principles it does mean, but who can say what it doesn't mean? If an eccentric voter wants hard or soft money, protective or free trade, state's rights or centralization, peculation or integrity, high or low salaries, back-pay and salary grabs or no pay at all, there they are, singly or in gross, half-shell or plain, mixed or straight, and the voter who can't be suited must be fastidious indeed. All he has to do is to vote the ticket and take his choice, and then they are introvertible at pleasure, just as the tastes or caprices of the people may fancy. Kelley's 3-65 perpetual motion interchangeable bonds wouldn't make a respectable horse-pistol to this interchangeable political field-piece, with its enormous bore and variegated ammunition and ranges. Patent applied for.

A new sawmill is being erected on the place of Hon. Joseph Engle, on Pudding river, in Marion county. Its cutting capacity will be 10,000 feet of lumber per day.

KEATING'S COUGH LOZENGES.—There is unquestionably no other remedy so certain in its effects. ASTHMA, WINTER COUGH, BRONCHITIS and DISORDERS OF THE THROAT alike yield to its influence. The highest medical testimony states no better cure for these complaints exists (now proved by over half a century's experience.) They contain no opium, morphia or any violent drug. THURSDAY MORNING, SEPT. 23, 1875.

THE INSIDE HISTORY OF THE OHIO INFLATION PLATFORM.

If the story told by a correspondent of the New York Times is to be credited, there is more milk in the Ohio greenback cocoanut than the general public is aware of. It is understood that the inflation resolution was drawn by General Thomas Ewing and engineered through the convention by Mr. Washington McLean, a Cincinnati politician. It was industriously worked up in all the more populous delegation districts before the local conventions met, and although there were hard fights in some of these, as, for instance, at Cleveland, the delegates were so thoroughly canvassed and manipulated that there was no chance for failure. The State Convention was, so far as concerned that question, the most completely packed body that ever got together in the Buckeye commonwealth.

The explanation of the intense interest of Ewing and McLean is in certain facts connected with their private affairs. Inflation, with them, is not a great principle of national finance adopted to relieve the commerce and industries of the country from their depressed state, nor a mere vote-catching device, but a matter of business. A few years ago, so the story runs, Gen. Ewing organized a corporation, of which he was the principal stockholder, called the Great Vein Company, the object of which was the purchase and sale or leasing of mineral lands. It was purely a speculating enterprise, not contemplating anything in the way of developing the mines of which it might become possessed. The plan was to gobble up as much as possible of the best coal lands before they became too high, and then lease or sell them at greatly advanced prices. The company, that is Ewing, secured many thousands of acres at prices ranging from ten to fifty dollars per acre. These lands were mostly convenient to the railways, and their value increased very rapidly. Sales and leases had been worked up, and the thing was just beginning to pan out, when the memorable panic of 1873 supervened. The Great Vein enterprise collapsed. The leases had to be cancelled, the mortgages taken for purchase money to be foreclosed. The company, that is Ewing, had the elephant on his hands. But it was an elephant that had not been paid for. The future had been discounted at a fearful rate in the purchase of the lands, and the future, as usual, allowed its paper to go to protest. Values shrank as times tightened up. Times have not yet loosened, and values have not filled out. Gen. Ewing has his acres, and they do not pay interest on the paper that stands against them. An inflation of the currency, setting the spirit of speculation astir and running the country wild, would enable him to unload on terms to save himself, and possibly get away with a fortune. So much for Gen. Ewing's part of the progamme.

McLean, during the war, bought on speculation an extensive tract of land about Newport News in Virginia. There was a project set on foot, and apparently in a fair way to succeed, to sell a large portion of it to the Government at such prices as the Government pays. That was a "big bonanza" in itself. Then there were to be fortifications, and a railway to that point. That would give value to the rest of the lands. It was all legitimate, so far as one can see. But it did not work. It was one of those "best laid schemes of mice and men" which "gang aft agley." The Government had no use for the lands when the Confederate egg-shell caved in. The fort was not built. The railway was not built. The general collapse in the business of the country that shrivelled up Ewing's coal fields had a similar effect upon McLean's Virginia lands—"only more so." He, too, would get out of a bad speculation if the country were inundated with shinplasters.

Last fall the country went Democratic, or, rather, it went against the Republicans. The Administration was not popular even with the President's own party. The prestige of the last elections and the disaffection in the Republican ranks, it was assumed, would give Ohio to the Democrats this fall, and Ohio would give them Pennsylvania and New York. Then the Presidential election in 1876 would be reasonably safe. Ohio piloting the Bourbons of the nation to victory would at the same time pilot them to a thorough endorsement of the rag-money policy. Inflation would be secured, the speculators and stock gamblers and land monopolists would have a harvest and the two men who combined together to work up the case would make their piles. It was a far reaching plan of operations, and well illustrates the way in which the politics of the country may be managed by a few crafty men for the accomplishment of personal objects.

THE GHEGHAN BILL.

Honesty is the best policy in the manner of conducting political discussion as well as in business transactions. A cause that has not sufficent foundation in truth to sustain it does not deserve advocacy; and one that has sufficient foundation in truth is only weakened by every resort to disingenuousness. The use that is made of the "Gheghan Bill" in the Ohio campaign is an instance of weakening a good case by uncandid argument. The people of Oregon have seen but little of this branch of Ohio discussion in the columns of their home papers, but in Ohio it is made the text for column after column of comment, the point sought to be made being that the bill, which was introduced into the Ohio Legislature by Gheghan, and passed by that body while the Democrats were in the majority, proves the truth of the charge that the Democracy desire to convert the public charities and prisons of the country into sectarian institutions. If the case against the Democratic managers rested on no better evidence than the Gheghan bill affords, it should be dropped at once; for, in the first place, it proves nothing of the kind, and, secondly, if it did prove the truth of the charge, precisely the same sort of evidence might be brought against the Republicans. Instead of making the institutions referred to sectarian its main object appears to be to make them completely unsectarian, as will be admitted by every candid person who will give it a particular examination. We give it in full:

An act to secure liberty of conscience in matters of religion to persons imprisoned or detained by authority of law:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, That as liberty of conscience is not forfeited by reason of conviction of crime, or by reason of detention in any penal reformatory or eleemosynary institution, of any house of refuge, workhouse, jail or public asylum in this state, no person in such institution shall be compelled to attend religious worship or instruction of a form which is against the dictates of his or her conscience; and it shall be the duty of every director, trustee, superintendent or other person having in charge any such institution, to furnish ample and equal facilities to all such persons for receiving the ministrations of the authorized clergymen of their own religious denominations and persuasions, under such reasonable rules and regulations as the trustees, directors, managers or superintendents shall make, but no such rule shall be so construed as to prevent the clergyman of any denomination from fully administering the rites of his denomination to such inmates, provided such ministration entails no expense upon the public treasury.

The sum and substance of all this is that those who are for any cause denied the liberty of locomotion so they can not procure for themselves the spiritual ministrations of their own religious denomination, shall not be forced to accept any other, and may have their own if it can be provided without expense to the people and without interference with the discipline of the institution. The effect of the law may be to take away the occupation of a few chaplains, but beyond that it will do no mischief.

But good or bad, the Republicans are estopped to complain of it. Several of them voted for its passage, and not one of them raised his voice against it at the time. Some lynx-eyed politician, after its passage, thought he saw an opportunity to make a point on it, and a motion to reconsider was made, when for the first time, the Republican vote was recorded adverse to the bill. Either they were a very stupid set, or it takes a wonderful amount of astuteness to see anything terrible in this bugaboo. Besides, the Gheghan bill is stated, on good authority, to be a verbatim copy of an act passed by the Republican Legislature of Minnesota, and it is exactly the same in purport and almost the same in phraseology with a law passed by the Republican Legislature of Massachusetts no longer ago than last April. Furthermore, a couple of weeks ago, a member of a Republican Convention in Cincinnati, who was innocent enough to think the politicians of his party were honest and in earnest in their clamor against the Gheghan bill, introduced a resolution demanding its repeal, which resolution was promptly tabled.

The demagoguing on this law has already begun to react, and there is reason to fear the Republican ticket will lose votes on account of it. At any rate it can do no possible good, for people who possess sufficient intelligence to take any interest in the subject will see the utter emptiness of the pretense that it supports the charge which it is brought forward to prove. The noncommittal and equivocal course of the manipulators of Democratic conventions on a question of so great moment, and which is pressing for decision, with the nomination of such men as Lane for their standard bearers, is enough to arouse the suspicions and excite the fears of every reasonable voter, without the addition of any illegitimate make-weights.

"OR ITS EQUIVALENT."

The Democratic State Convention of Nebraska make a ridiculous effort to straddle the fence on the currency question, by declaring they were "in favor of a sound currency, coin or its equivalent." What but coin is the equivalent of coin? Coin and promises to pay coin are the only currency this country ever knew, or that ever were proposed. Are promises to pay coin the equivalent of coin? Wilkins Micawber and George H. Pendleton are the only eminent financiers in history that ever said they were, and neither of these are accepted as authority on the subject. The resolution is intended to be construed as a rag-money declaration by the rag-money people and specie declaration by the specie people. If the Nebraska Democracy do not know their own opinions on the questions of whether the country should be deluged with irredeemable promises to pay instead of reducing its financial system to an honest basis, and if they felt compelled to say something on the subject, perhaps they got over the difficulty in the best way possible. But it is time for political parties to have an opinion on such momentous and pressing questions.

We take off our hat, brother Bristow. That paraphrase is "neat but not gaudy." The assumption that we have found any fault with the principles of the Independents is "coming it rather strong," but, all in all, it is a good hit. You may score 1 without waiting for the decision of the umpire.

Hon. Cyrus L. Pershing, the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, served in the Legislature of his State throughout the civil war, and was an unwavering supporter of the Government.

A firm of undertakers in Cincinnati the other day sent out to an industrial exhibition a poplar coffin inscribed: "For the financial rag baby, to be buried Oct. 12."

The Sacramento Record-Union is again excoriating the President and Secretary Delano in a fearful manner.

The Statesman says: "The wheat crop in Marion county is now about all threshed and safely garnered. The yield of fall wheat is the average of 35 bushels to the acre, and of spring wheat 28 bushels to the acre. The oat crop is light, and much less average sown. There is already a scarcity of oats, and the demand is beyond the supply."

THURSDAY MORNING SEPT 23 1875

CITY.

St Vincent's Hospital —Yesterday morning we paid a flying visit to St Vincent's hospital in company with Dr Kinney the attending physician and was kindly shown through the building As much has already been written concerning this most benevolent institution and an elaborate description of the building published it is superfluous to add anything on that subject We found the rooms light and airy well ventilated and kept most scrupulously neat and tidy Everything —even the faces of the patients—presented such a bright cheerful appearance that one could hardly realize the fact that he was treading through the wards of a hospital Sickness when it meets with such kind assiduous attention and is surrounded with so much that is pleasant and cheery can hardly in justice be regarded as an affliction While traversing the cleanly kept wards and wide airy hallways we could but think that sickness under such circumstances ought to be regarded more in the light of a luxury than otherwise Patients are kindly and carefully nursed, and provided with the best accommodations and the most wholesome food Since the hospital has been opened forty nine patients, including five females have been admitted At present there are twenty-eight under treatment Three deaths have occurred one from spinal affection and two from heart disease Two of these died almost immediately after being admitted to the hospital and one within a few days subsequent to his admission There have been no deaths since the 21st of August Four of the patients now in the hospital have consumption two are waiting to undergo extraordinary surgical operations and five, subjected to what are known as capital operations have recovered. Almost every day patients are admitted and discharged Nine sisters at present have charge of the hospital, and perform all the work connected with it Sister Teresa is the superior, and Sister Peter has general charge of the patients and also acts as apothecary, filling all prescriptions. Visits are made daily to the hospital by the attending physicians.

Return of Mr. Ben Simpson —After an absence from the city of several weeks Mr Ben Simpson, commissioner to treat with the Nestucka Indians reached here last evening having completed his labors We learn that the treaty stipulates that the siwashes shall immediately move to Siletz reservation where each receives 20 acres of land The houses now owned and occupied by the Indians are to be protected and sold for their benefit. If not sold to settlers the Indians will be allowed to remove them Mr P B Sinnot agent at Grand Round reservation, and O A Brown aided Commissioner Simpson in the work of consummating this treaty and it seems the whole matter was settled to the satisfaction of all concerned, which is of great consequence to all who desire to take up lands under the homestead or pre-emption laws Under the terms and as a result of the treaty a section of splendid country, about 30 by 50 miles is opened up for settlement, and gives place to many thousand new settlers, who will aid in enriching the state on lands which have hitherto been almost useless Mr Ben Simpson met with rather a serious accident on the return trip. Some 15 miles of the distance had to be made on horseback, and while riding through tangled wildwood Mr. Simpson was caught in the branches of a tree, and so seriously injured that he has been unable to walk for two days.

War Album —Mr E J. W Stemme has received from a relative in New York City a large album, which contains photographs of King William, Bismarck Prince Frederick and others directly connected on the side of 'Kaiser William' in the Franco-German war of 1870 besides fac similes of proclamations and official dispatches of the officers commanding in that war, which are worded in German and bear the coat of arms on the upper margin The cover bears the coat of arms in relief of steel, which alone is an attractive feature of the album The volume has met with a large sale in the east, and is justly entitled to the name it bears, "Kriegs Album" Mr Stemme prizes it very highly.

Adjustment of Loss —Messrs W. J Landers, Edwin D Backenstos, James Kip and T A. Mitchell, the persons appointed to act as adjusters of the loss sustained by Ackerman's dollar store by reason of the fire, have completed their labors after a most careful and thorough examination The total sum awarded Messrs. Ackerman & Oppenheimer and accepted by that firm was $20,250 which was divided among the following insurance companies North British and Mercantile Scottish Commercial, New Orleans, St. Paul St. Louis, London and Lancashire Franklin, Kansas Commercial, Globe German American, Niagara Commercial Union Union

Propeller Shaft Broken —While coming down from Olympia and Steilacoom last Saturday the propeller Zephyr broke her shaft, and became disabled She was then about the narrows between Tacoma and Steilacoom and was towed down to Tacoma by the Black Diamond, and from there to Seattle the same night by the Alida The break was from an old flaw, which has been gradually wearing and weakening until it would hold no longer The accident will necessitate her laying up for a week or so Captain Wright has arrived in Portland for the purpose of making arrangements for a new propeller shaft

Heard From —Some days ago an item was published in this paper making inquiries concerning the whereabouts of a man named James Coyle Last evening we received a note from James Martin, of Chehalis station W T in which he says 'I am sorry to tell you that James Coyle came to Seattle from the N P R R in the fall of 1872 In the spring of 1873 he left Seattle for Port Townsend hospital where he died the same summer with consumption

Surprise Party.-On Tuesday evening about 21 couples stormed the residence of Mrs Geo Marshall, in the north end and took the occupants completely by surprise What followed may be readily imagined At a late hour the company retired highly pleased with the reception they met with at the hands of Mr. and Mrs Marshall and their daughter—the affair having been arranged in honor of the young lady

Passed over Safely — On Tuesday the steamer Champion came down the river having on board 100 tons of wheat We are informed that the boat passed over Union Bar and Bennett's Dread—two of the worst places along the channel of the Upper Wallamet—without scarcely touching the bottom At the present low stage of water this can be regarded as an unusual occurrence.

Weather Report —From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation Portland, Oregon, September 22 1875

Opening Day —The ladies will be pleased to learn that this is the opening day of millinery goods at the 'White House Of course the fair sex, young and old will be present on the occasion Those in charge will be happy to give all the information desired Something new and attractive may be anticipated in hats and bonnets for the fall season

Oysters —The oyster season has fairly opened Not less than thirty sacks are opened and the bivalves contained therein are consumed every week in this city The consumption of eastern transplanted oysters is increasing fully 3 000 being devoured in Portland every week.

THE TURF.

W W Baker it is stated has been fully authorized to challenge the owner or owners of the horse Osceola to run him against Foster for a purse of $4 000 Distance one mile and a half or two miles if preferred provided the trial come off during the State Fair either at Salem or the Hillsboro Fair grounds Provided the money be put up by the 17th of October the race may take place after that date as agreed upon

Joseph Wolf, who on complaint of J Markly, was arrested on Tuesday night charged with larceny was called in court yesterday for a preliminary hearing At the close of the testimony the court held the defendant to answer the charge before the grand jury No bonds were fixed by the court, as the defendant was unable to furnish any and was committed to the county jail until the meeting of the state circuit court

EDUCATIONAL.

The superintendent of public schools made distribution of the school fund of the county yesterday, and clerks of the various districts will find orders for sums apportioned to them at their postoffices The whole sum distributed at this time is $20 173 20 or $4 20½ to each person of school age There are 4,731 in the whole county between the ages of 4 and 20 as reported last March and of this number 2 3/4 are in district No 1 A larger number of schools in the county are in session at this time than at any previous date in four years With the exception of two small schools and two which will be in session before Oct 1 every school in the county is now holding a term The majority of these are under the care of good teachers and there is and an increasing disposition on the part of districts and officers to employ teachers who give reasonable satisfaction continuously or by re engagement after vacations This practice is worthy of high commendation The system of reports from teachers to the superintendents is proving of great advantage and stimulates scholars and teachers to close discipline and industry When this system is thoroughly carried out the county superintendent has in his office a record of the attendance scholarship and conduct of every scholar in the county and holds an efficient check upon careless or shiftless teachers

The superintendent takes this occasion to urge upon the attention of teachers of the county the monthly teachers institute of district No 1 which is held on the first Saturday of every month between the hours of 9 and 11 These institutes can be made useful to any persons who love their profession as educators, and are willing to co operate with others in a true spirit

The Philosophy of Disease

The philosophy of disease is a subject which is worthy the attention of mankind but is unfortunately, more generally neglected than any other under heaven Decidedly the most important fact that an examination of it discloses is that in nine cases out of ten the originating causes of disease is debility either general or local and that the earliest manifestations of its approach are identical with those which evidence a lack of vital power Such being the case it is perfectly clear that tonic treatment is what is required in the first instance As an invigorant Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has received the most positive endorsement from eminent physicians and has long occupied a foremost rank among standard proprietary remedies Its properties as an alterative of disordered conditions of the stomach liver and bowels and a preventive of malarial diseases are no less renowned and have been accorded professional recommendation equally emphatic

"A Slight Cold," Coughs —Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or slight cold which would yield to a mild remedy if neglected often attacks the lungs Brown's Bronchial Troches give sure and almost immediate relief

Like "Quaker Guns

Artificial teeth are of little use and easily detected. Take care of the real ones All you need is fragrant Sozodont; use it daily and your teeth will be the last of nature's gifts to fail you

Lung troubles must be treated at once Neglect of them brings sorrow pain and regret. Thousands have told of the almost miraculous effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for coughs colds bronchitis and all lung troubles It is unequaled

Purge out the Morbid Humors of the Blood, by a dose or two of AYER'S PILLS, and you will have clearer heads as well as bodies.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession Dr Wm HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat and Chest Dr TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

Our local finances are in a great measure controlled by the condition of affairs in San Francisco and we may not anticipate any more active movement here until the several disturbed causes there are settled The Alta of a late date informs us that money in San Francisco continues exceedingly scarce and dear and there is no prospect of relief to the market until at least the beginning of October All seem to think that events expected at that time will stimulate largely a recovery from the present depressed condition The commercial banks meet the mercantile wants of their customers on regular terms but make no loans The savings societies find their funds regularly increasing but they will as respects loans probably remain on the defensive for the remainder of the month The private capitalists have not pressed their customers who hesitate in paying up and they have therefore no nccessity for new loans. The amount of money in the city as a whole increases and the confidence of the community is hourly returning The general stringency of money is however very great for the moment. It is almost impossible to sell exchange and as a consequence the crop movement languishes There has been no further transfers through the United States treasury The amount on hand there is $1 000 000 But the rise in gold in New York prompts a desire to ship funds that way and if the market was easy there would be a renewal of shipments. The treasury of course cannot transfer funds to New York because it does not want to send gold here on its own account.

Foreign Wheat Crops

Detailed reports of estimates made by the best European authorities of the yield and condition of the wheat crops of that country have reached us by mail and we collate facts which may throw some light upon the future of the market as prices after all depend upon the supply the demand can be easily estimated

Mr Thomas C Scott estimates the wheat crop of 1875 in the United Kingdom at 6 625 000 qrs with estimated requirements of foreign wheat equal to 13 500 000 qrs which is a larger amount than has ever been imported

The following section of the shipping act recently passed by the British legislature is of importance to British vessels clearing from American ports

From and after October 1 1875 no cargo of which more than one third consists of any kind of grain corn rice paddy pulse seeds nuts or nut kernels shall be carried on board any British ship unless such grain corn rice paddy pulse, seeds nuts or nut kernels be contained in bags sacks or barrels or secured from shifting by boards bulkhead or otherwise. This section shall not apply to any grain shipped previous to the 1st of October 1875 The master of any British ship who shall knowingly allow any cargo or part of a cargo to be shipped therein for carriage contrary to the provisions of this section shall for every such offense, incur a penalty not exceeding £200

Of the wheat crop of the United Kingdom in 1875 Mr James Caird in a communication to the London Times says The best qualities of wheat and the best wheat counties are this year most deficient. The returns of acreage under wheat in 1875 in the United Kingdom have not yet been published for England and Scotland In Ireland they are 14 per cent. less than the crop of 1874 Under the double influence of deficient yield and diminished acreage it will be prudent to reckon a reduction on the total yield of 2,000 000 qrs which is equivalent to rendering the United Kingdom dependent on the foreigner for six and a half instead of five and a half months consumption. Previous to 1860 the annual average area of land under wheat exceeded 4 000 000 acres when the population was barely 28 000 000 The average breadth of land under wheat for the last eight years has been 200 000 acres less while the population has increased to 32,000 000

The French wheat crop of 1875 is estimated by the Echo Agricole of Paris from returns received as late as the 19th of August at 106 015 000 hectolitres, equal to 37 637 825 qrs. or 301 102,600 bushels The crop of 1874 was estimated variously at 124 000 000 hectolitres, 130 000 000 hectolitres and 140 000 000 hectolitres. The imports of wheat into France for the crop year ended with August 31 1875 will have been about equal to the exports of the same period France was bare of stocks of wheat on the 31st of August 1874 It remains to be determined how much of the crop of 1874 was remaining on hand August 31 1875 to supplement the incoming crop of 1875 The average annual consumption of France for all purposes is placed at about 92,000 000 hectolitres of 2 bushels 83,751 decimal each

At the international grain fair opened on the 23d of August last at Vienna, an official report of the crops of Hungary announced a falling off in the quality and quantity, being a decrease of 4,500 000 quintals of 220½ lbs each] on wheat and 1 500 000 quintals of rye It is expected that including the old stock on hand there will be available for export 5,500 000 to 6 000 000 quintals of wheat 1 500 000 quintals of rye, and 1 500 000 pecks of barley

In Germany from mail advices of the 21st ult. the agricultural reports state that almost everywhere the harvest has been completed under favorable auspices but as regards quality the crop of 1875 will not rank with good years. This applies especially to wheat which on almost all samples shows bear traces of weather damage in color second growth, and numerous undeveloped corns. Rye is of good quality on the whole but this cannot be said of barley and oats.

The reports of the Russian cereal crops are as yet the reverse of satisfactory Winter wheat and rye in nineteen Russian governments or provinces are reported unsatisfactory in nine middling and in eight bad Spring grain is still worse Twenty provinces are returned as quite bad ten as fair and sixteen as tolerably good The south of Russia which is generally the most productive shows this year the most unfavorable returns.

The Chicago Tribune of the 13th inst. says

In the United Kingdom the wheat crop appears to be below an average Both straw and grain are found to have been greatly injured by the recent storms in the midland counties and in many other parts of the country The crops are foul with weeds there is much mildew and the samples are necessarily inferior in color and general qualities The reports of the potatoes are variable disease having but a slight appearance in some districts

Trade Matters

Were rather more active to-day than before for several days and as the fall passes apace evident signs of a revival of our commercial interests are visible The various departments of trade in imported goods are receiving more attention and buyers from the interior are in the market in increasing numbers. Prices in this line are quite steady with but little inclination toward appreciation and with active competition and large stocks carefully selected with reference to the wants of the country retail dealers find it quite as advantageous to purchase here as to go to San Francisco

The produce market is still quoted as unchanged and though transactions are becoming a little more frequent, there is comparatively nothing being done on speculation every one preferring to proceed cautiously and work entirely within the limits of their means and actual requirements The quotations furnished are unchanged from those given yesterday

The sale of damaged grain feed etc at the store of Messrs Everding & Farrell at auction to-day was largely attended and the bidding spirited The wheat which was least injured sold at $1 12 per sack oats 95 cents per sack bran 14@ cents per sack

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives Sarsaparilla Dock Stillingia and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potassium and Iron makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting It purifies the blood purges out the lurking humors in the system that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ or organs whose action they derange and whose substance they disease and destroy AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood When they are gone the disorders they produce disappear such as Ulcerations of the Liver Stomach Kidneys Lungs Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin St Anthony's Fire Rose or Erysipelas Pimples Pustules Blotches Boils Tumors Tetter and Salt Rheum Scald Head Ringworm Ulcers and Sores Rheumatism Neuralgia Pain in the Bones Side and Head Female weakness Sterility Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease Dropsy Dyspepsia Emaciation and General Debility With their departure health returns

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color

It removes all eruptions itching and dandruff and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual or desirable

Dr A A Hayes State Assayer of Massachusetts says of it I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose

Buckingham's Dye,

FOR THE WHISKERS

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade to brown or black at discretion It is easily applied being in one preparation and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off
